§ 8. Criteria of patentability

(1) An invention is patentable if it is new, involves an inventive step and is susceptible to industrial application.

(2) An invention shall be considered to be new if it does not form part of the state of the art. The state of the art shall be held to comprise everything made available to the public by means of written or oral description, by use, or in any other way, in any part of the world before the filing date of the patent application or before the date of priority if priority is claimed. In determining novelty, the content of patent applications and the content of registration applications of utility models which were filed with the Patent Office earlier pursuant to the Utility Models Act (RT I 1994, 25, 407; 2000, 60, 388; 2001, 27, 151; 2002, 53, 336; 63, 387; 2003, 18, 106; 88, 594; 2004, 20, 141) shall also be taken into consideration according to their filing dates or, if priority is claimed, dates of priority provided that the patent applications are published pursuant to § 24 of this Act and registration applications of utility models are published pursuant to § 33 of the Utility Models Act.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(3) In determining the state of the art, any information relating to an invention is not taken into consideration, provided that a corresponding request is submitted, if such information is disclosed by a person who is entitled to the patent pursuant to § 12 of this Act or another person with the knowledge of the said person within twelve months before the filing date of the first patent application or registration application of a utility model containing the invention in the Republic of Estonia or abroad. The request shall be filed together with the patent application or not later than two months before the publication of the patent application pursuant to § 24. If another person acquired the information unlawfully or the information was published unlawfully or without the knowledge of the person who has the right to apply for the patent, the request may be filed in the course of the examination of the patent application or in case the patent is contested. Evidence supporting the request shall be appended to the request.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(4) An invention shall be considered as involving an inventive step if, having regard to the state of the art, it is not obvious to a person skilled in the art.

(5) An invention shall be considered as susceptible to industrial application if it can be manufactured or used in economy.

§ 9. Unity of invention

(1) Patent protection for only one invention or a group of inventions so linked as to form a single general inventive concept can be applied for in a patent application.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(2) If a patent application contains several inventions, the applicant may separate the inventions from the patent application during the processing of the patent application and file separate patent applications pursuant to §§ 19 and 20 of this Act. The filing date of the initial patent application shall be deemed to be the filing date of any separate patent applications filed for separated inventions (hereinafter separated patent application) if the invention corresponds to the subject matter of the invention as disclosed in the initial patent application. Separated patent applications may be filed up to six months after termination of the processing of the patent application pursuant to § 28 or completion of the processing of the patent application pursuant to § 31.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(3) If patent claims contain several inventions not forming a single general inventive concept, the applicant shall separate the inventions which violate the requirement of unity from the patent application at the request of the Patent Office within the term set by the Patent Office. Subsection (2) of this section applies to separated inventions.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

§ 10. Scope of patent protection and patent claims

(1) The scope and content of patent protection shall be determined by the wording of patent claims. The wording of patent claims shall be interpreted based on the level of knowledge of a person skilled in the art at the time of filing the patent application. The description, drawings and other illustrative material shall be used to interpret the wording of patent claims.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(2) Patent claims shall define the subject matter of the invention, for which patent protection is applied, in words in a clear, concise and short manner. In patent claims, the subject matter of an invention shall be presented as a set of essential features of the invention. Patent claims consist of one or several claims.

(3) Patent claims consist of independent and dependent claims. Patent claims shall not contain more than one independent claim with regard to one invention, unless:

1) the invention consists of several products grouped together, or

2) the apparatus or product is used for various purposes, or

3) such alternative solutions to the technical problem exist as not to allow the subject-matter of the invention to be covered by a single claim.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(4) Where the derogations referred to in subsection (3) of this section apply, the requirement of unity of invention must be met.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(5) The abstract of the subject matter of an invention has no legal effect upon disclosing the subject matter of the invention or determining the scope of patent protection. The abstract shall merely serve for use upon disclosing technical information concerning the invention.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

§ 11. Priority

(1) Priority is the preferential right of the person who files the first patent application or registration application of a utility model or the legal successor of such person to apply for patent protection for an invention. The filing date of the first patent application or registration application of a utility model shall be considered to be the date of priority.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(2) If a patent application is filed with the Patent Office within twelve months after the filing date of the first patent application or registration application of a utility model and priority is claimed, priority may be established:

1) on the basis of the filing date of the first patent application or registration application of a utility model in any State party to the Paris Convention of the Protection of Industrial Property (RT II 1994, 4/5, 19) or member of the World Trade Organisation;

(16.06.98 entered into force 25.07.98 - RT I 1998, 64/65, 1003)

2) on the basis of the filing date of the first patent application or registration application of a utility model in a state which is not a State party to the Paris Convention for the Protection of Industrial Property or in a state which is not member of the World Trade Organisation if such state guarantees equivalent conditions for first patent applications and registration applications of utility models filed in the Republic of Estonia.

(27.10.1999 entered into force 01.01.2000 - RT I 1999, 84, 764)

(3) Priority for a patent application filed on the basis of corrections and amendments to an earlier patent application which alter the subject matter of the invention may be established, if priority is claimed, based on the filing date of such corrections and amendments with the Patent Office.

(4) Priority for a patent application which is separated from an earlier patent application pursuant to subsection 9 (2) or (3) of this Act may be established, if priority is claimed, on the basis of the date of priority of the earlier patent application.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(5) If priority is claimed, priority may be established for a patent application filed with the Patent Office within twelve months by the same applicant for the same invention on the basis of the filing date of an earlier patent application or registration application of a utility model, provided that the earlier patent application or registration application of a utility model has not been published and priority has not been claimed on the basis thereof for some other patent application or registration application of a utility model. If an earlier patent application is being processed, the earlier patent application is deemed to be withdrawn.

(6) If priority is claimed, priority may be established on the basis of the filing dates of several patent applications or registration applications of utility models filed earlier. In the case of several patent applications or registration applications of utility models filed earlier, the twelve-month term specified in subsection (2) or (5) of this section shall be calculated as of the earliest date of priority.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(6¹) If priority is claimed, priority for a patent application filed with the Patent Office after expiry of the twelve-month term specified in subsection (2) or (5) of this section may be established on the basis of the filing date of a first patent application or registration application of a utility model pursuant to subsection (2) or (5) of this section if:

- 1) the reasons for the failure to comply with the abovementioned term are appended to the priority claim;
- 2) the reasons stated pursuant to clause 1) of this subsection prove that the failure to file the application within the term was unintentional;

3) the patent application was filed within two months from the date on which the abovementioned term expired.

(29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)

(7) (Repealed - 29.01.2003 entered into force 01.04.2003 - RT I 2003, 18, 106)
